Kentucky.

It would be queer if Kentucky should he the last State to give up slavery. In the days of Henry Clay it was thought that Kentucky would be the very first to array itself with the free States. The toachings of that great Statesman were supposed to strongly favor such action, and the current of freedom was to go down by degrees of latitude. Kentucky, Maryland, Delaware and Missouri were to be the first fruits; then Virginia, North Carolina, Tennossee and Arkansas. Nobody thought of free State conventions in Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas to be held in 1864. The idea would have been proposterous. The natural effects of contiguity with the free States were to accomplish the object gradually, if it ever were accomplished. But behold how this natural order of things has been reversed and the muchdesired consummation hastened by the madness of the slaveholders. In the hands of an Omniscient Providence, which alone can see the end from the beginning, they have been made the procuring cause of the destruction of their own darling institution, and that in their strongest holds. The most benighted slave States are to become the van in the march of Freedom, and Kentucky, that was "almost persunded" years ago to become a free State, is to bring up the rear. She has all through the war been the stumbling block in the way of a summary treatment of the rebellion, maintaining an armed neutrality between the Union and the Confederacy, exercising a most baleful influence over the

The people | Falls. of the two countries become immediately the enemies of each other-all intercourse, commercial or otherwise, between them is unlawful-all contracts at the commencement of the war are suspended, and all made during the existence utterly void."

A New Orleans letter says: "The social world has of late been flying about in a whirlwind of soirces, balls and kindred festivities. The entertainments of General Banks and Col. Holabird, together with the marriage of the lovely Miss Atocha, of Washington, D. C., to Captain Franklin, U. S. N. (brother to the Major General of that name,) have created quite an excitement. New Orleans is indeed very gny this winter, as was evidenced by the brisk calling on New Year's day."

RAILROAD STRIKE .- On Tuesday of last week, about sixty of the employees in the Car Works of the G. & C. U. R. R. in Chicago, threw up their situation, represonting, in their demand for an increase of wages, that they are receiving only $1.65 per day, while the same class of workmen in the car shops of the Illinois Central, Chicago & and Rock Island and Chicago and Northwestern Railroads receive $2.28 per day for the same service. Superintendant Talcott replies to their demand that the same wages are paid to the Galena shops as for the service in other shops in the city.

PROTESTANT MONASTERY .- A Protestant monastery, under the rules of St. Benedict, has been established in England. The institution numbers twelve monks, the leader among them being known as "Brother Ignatius." He is a preacher of powerful eloquence, and is now attempting to raise a large sum, by his lectures, to erect a hospital and school for his brotherhood. The movement is exciting much attention in England, and the low Churchmen have resorted to some rather unseemly measures.

OUR READERS will observe that Messrs. Stoan and Brown have been measuring lances in Congress, not much to the advantage of the latter. The copperheads conscious of their own disloyalty, are trying hard to fasten the same stigma upon the Republican party. The thing cannot be done. The party has always been the steadfast friend and supporter of the Union, and no raking up of past resolutions, though berhaps not such as they would now stand upon, can place them in any other position. We expect to review this matter thoroughly before many days.

In a speech the other day, Fernando Wood had the assurance to say, "We of Wisconsin Regiment, at the block-house, New York sent fourteen regiments into Pennsylvania when she was invaded." To which a Pennsylvania member rejoined, sollo vece, "Yes, you did, Fernando,-th muskets that you sent to Georgia when the war broke out came back to Pennsylvania at Gettysburg. Fourteen regiments of your friends, and more, brought them!"

Misapprenension .- There seems to have been some misapprehension of our little item yesterday in reference to the schools. We stated that the schools "were adjournod till warmer weather," meaning thereby until the various rooms could be made comfortable for the scholars. Some of the sholars, anxious to find a plea for staying away from school, it seems, seized upon that paragraph as a valid excuse and absented themselves to-day. Bad boys are they To run from the school room's call.

THE THIRTEENTH-OUR DEPARTED HE noes .- While our citizens are making arrangements to give the Thirteenth a fitting reception,-and while we greet cordially the brave boys who have enlisted in the veteran service, we do well to bear in mind that many of those who left this eity with our returning soldiers, when the Regiment received its marching orders, do not and cannot come back to us. We have in mind now several young men of sterling worth, coming from pleasant homes and good situations, who left here with the glow of health mantling the check, the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce for a fire of patriotic devotion to country, kindthe voice clear and musical, the manner and bearing bespeaking the true soldier. They went out from us with high hopes and expectations, desiring to serve their country faithfully, and to be instrumental to some extent in putting down the slaveholders' rebellion. And here it may be stated that though the boys of the 13th have not had an opportunity to prove their valor upon the hotly contested field, they are as much deserving of our friendly regard and patriotic sympathy, as though they were the heroes of a hundred battles. He is the 3,500. The bill as amended was then of him. This the boys of the 13th have always done. And should they be ordered to the front on their return to the sent of war, we do not believe they would cower or turn pule in the face of the foe.

Concerning the dear absent ones we would speak tenderly and affectionately. By and by disease began to work its ray ages among them, and the brave young men to whom we refer, passed one by one to the realm where, we trust, war and bloodshed are unknown. They died heroically, expressing no regrets that they entered the service of their country. Death came upon the weary march, in camp and hospital, but their soldierly hearts did not quail. Sometimes by the hands of their loved comrades, or by dear ones to the expediency of establishing a new department to be called the Department of from the homes they had loft, were their eyes tenderly closed for their last sleep, sometimes probably strangers performed this sad office, and received from the lips of the dying soldiers their last affectionate whispers on behalf of home and friends! INTERESTING DECISION .- Judge Nelson, of the United States District Court for the district of Minnesota, has dismissed a bill filed by a citizen of North Carolina against two citizens of Minnesota, holding that "every citizen of a hostile State in a civil or perfect war (as a war inter gentes is called) becomes a public enemy, and the law treats him accordingly. The people of the two countries become immediately the enemies of each other-all intercourse, e immercial or otherwise, between them is unlawful-all contracts at the commence- fining their duties, ment of the war are suspended, and all A bill for the enrollment of the national to some extent in putting down the slavemade during the existence utterly void." librers, with the House amendment, was taken up. A New Orleans letter says: "The social world has of late been flying about in a whirlwind of soirces, balls and kindred festivities. The entertainments of General Banks and Col. Holabird, together with the marriage of the levely Miss Atocha, of Washington, D. C., to Captain Franklin, U. S. N. (brother to the Major General of that name,) have created quite an excitement. New Orleans is indeed very gay this winter, as was evidenced by the brisk calling on New Year's day,"

RAILROAD STRIKE, -On Tuesday of last week, about sixty of the employees in the Car Works of the G. & C. U. R. OUR READERS will observe that Messrs. Sloan and Brown have been measuring lances in Congress, not much to the advantage of the latter. The copperheads conscious of their own disloyalty, are trying hard to fasten the same stigma upon the Republican party. The thing cannot be done. The party has always been the steadfast friend and supporter of the Union, and no raking up of past resolutions, though berhaps not such as they would new stand upon, can place them in any other position. MISAPPREHENSION .- There seems to have been some misapprehension of our little item yesterday in reference to the schools. We stated that the schools "were adjourned till warmer weather," meaning thereby until the various rooms could be made comfortable for the scholars. Some of the sholars, anxious to find a plea for staying press but also to the public generally, as away from school, it seems, seized upon the single line is now too much burdened that paragraph as a valid excuse and ab-

THE THIRTEENTH-OUR DEPARTED HE toes.-While our citizens are making arrangements to give the Thirteenth a fitting reception,-and while we greet cordially the brave boys who have enlisted in the weteran service, we do well to bear in mind that many of those who left this city with our returning soldiers, when the Regiment received its marching orders, do not and cannot come back to us. We have in mind now several young men of sterling worth, coming from pleasant homes and good situations, who left here with the glow of health mantling the check, the lire of patriotic devotion to country, kindship canal on the American side of Niagara i ling in the eye, the step elastic and firm, the voice clear and musical, the manner and bearing bespeaking the true soldier. They went out from us with high hopes same as a major of the infantry, and de- and expectations, desiring to serve their country faithfully, and to be instrumental

> And here it may be stated that though the boys of the 13th have not had an opportunity to prove their valor upon the notly contested field, they are as much deserving of our friendly regard and patriotic sympathy, as though they were the heroes of a hundred battles. He is the true soldier who does what is required of of him. This the boys of the 13th have always done. And should they be ordered to the front on their return to the seat of war, we do not believe they would cower or turn pale in the face of the foe. Concerning the dear absent ones we would speak tenderly and affectionately. By and by disease began to work its ray ages among them, and the brave young men to whom we refer, passed one by one to the realm where, we trust, war and Builroad and Telegraph Company to the bloodshed are anknown. They died heroically, expressing no regrets that they entered the service of their country. Death came upon the weary march, in camp and Rock county, have been distributed among hospital, but their soldierly hearts did not quail. Sometimes by the hands of their from the homes they had left, were their eyes tenderly closed for their last sleep, sometimes probably strangers - performed this sad office, and recoived from the lips of the dying soldiers their last affectionate whispers on behalf of home and friends! Some are buried in Southern soil, with perhaps little to mark their resting places, and others repose in departments. the burying grounds near the homes they fondly loved. Sometimes a father or mother, brother or sister, wife or friend, would go to the distant camp or hospital, arriving perhaps in time to drop the tear conveniencies for both the boarding hall, of affection over the dying one; sometimes finding only the stiffened corpse to bear and I learn that an effort will soon be made back to the bereaved and stricken family, to secure funds for these ends. The In-For the dead of the 13th much money has stitution certainly offers many of the best been expended and many tears have been educational advantages to young people, shed. Brave boys! they deserved well of and it is an honor to this section, being their country and their friends. We will one of the largest and most influential of hold them in affectionate rememberance, its kind in the West. It must be, of course, with chastened feelings that we greet our returning veterans. Cordial and joyful may the greeting be. To the living we give the warm heart and generous hand of welcome, but our joy cannot be unmingled with sorrow. We inquired of a father the other day if he would be in town to witness the coming of the 13th, The question touched a tender chord in his heart, and brought tears to his eyes. MILTON ACADEMY .- This Institution is enjoying its usual prosperity. Nearly two hundred students are in attendance this winter term, and they are making good progress in their studies. The discipline of the school is in a decidedly wholesome state. Lectures on History, Natural Science, Elecution, Mohammedanism, and Common Sense in Teaching, have been presented before the students. A large Teacher's Class is drilling for the summer schools; and fully one hundred students are preparing in the different classes for eaching in our public schools.

In its report to the Normal Regents, for the past year, the Institution presented fifty-one members of its Normal Department as having been examined by their agent in the studies of the first, second and third years of their course. During the 29th Ind. year ending with Dec. 31st, 1863, there were in attendance four hundred and twenty-five different students. In that time, nearly $3000 have been expended in increasing the facilities for rooming and instruction. FROM MADISON.

Editorial Correspondence. Madison, February 16, 1864. A little ripple has just been created upon the surface of affairs here by the escape of Charles Wright from the Hospital for the Insane which is located across Fourth Lake some five miles from this city. He thas been confined in that institution two or three years, and insists that he is not now, insune and that he never has been. Failing to convince the physicians at the Asylum of his sanity, he determined to effect his escape, and procuring a pair of skates he crossed the lake and made known his case to Governor Lowis who told him he need not return. Dr. Roundy, of Walworth, introduced a memorial this morning setting forth the case, and calling the attention of the logislature to some of the abuses which, Mr. Wright thinks, are practiced in that Institution, and particularly making complaint against Dr. Sawyer, the Assistant Superintendent of the Asylum. I know nothing of the merits of the case, but the escaped gentleman looks and acts as if his head was quite as cool and as

and to-day it spent much of its time in going over the same ground. The bills confer upon the several corporations the privilege of constructing bridges across the Mississippi river, in this . State. The hills were passed under a suspension of the rules on Suturday-on yesterday the vote was reconsidered and they were made the special order for two weeks from today, and this morning they were referred to the Railrond committee. Messrs. Barron, Rood, Pound, Phillips, Elwell and others, oppose these bills with much earnestness, not because they are hostile to railroads, but for the reason of the great damage and irreparable loss as they think, which the steam boat and lumbering incontemplated bridges are suffered to be built. These gentlemen assert that if bridges across this great thoroughfare, other States will soon follow suit, and the navigation of that stream will be forever destroyed, and that it is the policy of eastern capitalists who now own and control the most of the stock in Wisconsin railroads, to thus destroy the navigation of the Father of Waters, or to seriously obstruct it so that the northwestern States will eventually be compelled to abandon the Southern market altogether and seek the railroads owned by Wall street capitalists, and at such rates of tariff as they might see fit to exact. This is the argument in a mut shell. But the bills are bound to pass, as there seems to be a combination of interest in their favor that will not rest un-

tem. This is a good choice, as Mr. W. is not only one of the most able and efficient members of the present Senate, but makes bills were introduced that are of no consequence to the readers of the Gazette, such of Neenah; to extend the time for the collection of taxes in the city of Racine, &c. A bill of H. A. Stone of $47,90 for Sherill's services, that has been before the Legislature every year for the past two or three years, passing last year in the Senon its passage, elicited considerable discussion, and was defeated by 18 noes to 7

Mr. Sloan.—I ask the gentleman if those resolutions were anything more than what are called the Kentucky resolutions, which of the Democratic party for sixteen years? Mr. Pruyn.—I have quoted from memory, and I am corroborated by the statement of the members of Wisconsin, who have told me that such was the purport of the resolutions. Mr. Sloan.—The substance of these resolutions was only the Kentucky resolutions which were incorporated into the platform of the Democratic party in the National Convention in 1852, and in nearly every

Mr. Brown, of Wisconsin. I desire to make a single statement in reference to the resolutions to which the gentleman refers. In 1859, resolutions were passed by the unanimous republican vote of the legislature of Wisconsin, declaring that the government of the United States was a compact, that there was no common arbiter in case of dispute between a state government, and that each State was judge for itself of the infraction of the contract and the mode and measure of redress.

I state beyond that, that the supreme court of the State of Wisconsin, in the case of ex parte Booth, on application for a writ of habeas corpus, decided that they would not entertain a writ of error from the supreme court of the United States to themselves, taking almost the same ground in reference to the matter which the legismake any return to the supreme court. And I ask him further if either of those resolutions or the decision of the supreme court had the least taint of this doctrine of secession about them? Mr. Brown, of Wisconsin. 1 state in reply that I used the language of those resolutions. It was that the government of the United States was a compact, and that in case of dispute between a state and the federal government there was no common arbiter, and that each state was a judge as well of the infraction of that compact as of the mode and manner of redress. I state beyond that, that at the last session of the legislature those resolutions were repealed, and repealed with the declaration that those were the rentiments indorsed by Jeff. Davis, and every democomed to be false; and every republican I will say, while I cannot quote from the

York will allow me a moment to reply. The gentleman from Wisconsin evades inv question. I asked him whether the resolutions of the State were not identical in substance with the famous Kentucky reselutions, and he declines to answer that question. I assert that they were, and that those resolutions have been in the platform of the party to which the gentleman belongs for the last sixteen years, and have been adopted by every democratic national convention. I ask the gentlemen now whether he repudiates the platform his party has acted upon in every Presidential election during the last sixteen

Mr. Brown, of Wisconsin .- I understand that the resolutions of 1798 contain no such doctrine as that incorporated in the resolutions of the Wisconsin Legislature in 1859. Mr. Sloan .- That is an issue of fact between the gentleman and myself, which the records must determine. I think the litical history of the country, and of his of the Legislature of Wisconsin and the resolutions of his party.

Mr. Brown, of Wisconsin. Mr. Speak. er, I will not either defend myself against the charges of ignorance which my colleague makes upon me, nor impugn the knowledge of the gentleman. Thave not stood at any time on the platform which I have alluded to, adopted by the republican party in Wisconsin. And now, having answered the ques-tions which he asked me; I will ask him of the legislature and the decision of the supreme court of the State of Wisconsin

Colloquy between Messrs. Stoan and

During the debate on the confiscation act in the House of Representatives on the speech as follows:

Mr. SLOAN:-I understand the gentleman to state that the Supreme Court of the the-State, first recognized the doctrine of secession. I desire to ask the gentleman when and in what case? Ma. Pacyn.—By certain resolutions of the Legislature, passed in 1858 or 1859. Mr. Sloan.-I ask the gentleman if those resolutions were anything more than what are called the Kentucky resolutions, which have been incorporated into the platform of the Democratic party for sixteen years? Mr. Pruyn.—I have quoted from memory, and I am corroborated by the state nent of the members of Wisconsin, who have told me that such was the purport of the resolutions.

Mr. Sloan.—The substance of these resolutions was only the Kentucky resolutions which were incorporated into the platform of the Democratic party in the National Convention in 1852, and in nearly every convention since.

Mr. Brown, of Wisconsin. I desire to make a single statement in reference to the resolutions to which the gentleman re-In 1859, resolutions were passed by the unanimous republican vote of the legislature of Wisconsin, declaring that the government of the United States a compact, that there was no common ar biter in case of dispute between a state government, and that each State was judge for itself of the infraction of the contract and the mode and measure of redress.

I state beyond that, that the supreme court of the State of Wisconsin, in the case of ex parte Booth, on application for a writ of habeas corpus, decided that they would not entertain a writ of error from the supreme court of the United States to themselves, taking almost the same ground in reference to the matter which the legis-lature of Wisconsin did, and refused to make any return to the supreme court. But for the credit of Wisconsin I will say that last year those resolutions were re-

Mr. Sloan. I desire to ask the gentle man from Wisconsin if the language of the resolutions of the State of Wisconsin was not almost indentical with the languago of the famous Kentucky resolutions of 1798: and if all that the supreme court held was not simply that, in a proper case brought before that court, they had the right to judge of the constitutionality of an act in congress within the Union, as a simple judical remedy, exercising their functions as the highest judical tribunal of our State? And I ask him further it either of those resolutions or the decision of the supreme court had the least taint of this doctrine of secession about them?

Mr. Brown, of Wisconsin. I state in reply that I used the language of those resolutions. It was that the government of the United States was a compact, and that in case of dispute between a state and the federal government there was no common arbiter, and that each state was a judge as well of the infraction of that compact as of he mode and manner of redress.

I state beyond that, that at the last session of the legislature those resolutions were repealed, and repealed with the dedaration that those were the sentiments ndorsed by Jeff. Davis, and every demoerat voted against the repeal, because i had such a declaration as that, which they deemed to be false; and every republicavoted for it.

I will say, while I cannot quote from the tengthy discussion of the supreme court of our state, it did refuse at that timethough it has changed since-to make a return to the writ of error from the suprome court of the United States. Does the gentleman stand upon those resolu-tions of 1798 and those of 1859, or does be abandon them?
Mr. Sloan.—The gentleman from New York will allow me a moment to reply. The gentleman from Wisconsin evades my question. I asked him whether the resolutions of the State were not identical in abstance with the famous Kentucky reso lutions, and he declines to answer that question. I assert that they were, and that those resolutions have been in the platform of the party to which the gentleman belongs for the last sixteen years, and have been adopted by every democratic national convention. I ask the gentlemen now whether he repudiates the platform his party has acted upon in every Bresi-dential election during the last sixteen

Mr. Brown, of Wisconsin,-I understand that the resolutions of 1798 contain no such doctrine as that incorporated in the resolutions of the Wisconsin Legislature in 1859. And if I thought the resolutions did, I would repudinte those resolutions. It is because I think they do not contain any such sentiments that I give my adherence to tham, Mr. Sloan.—That is an issue of fact between the gentleman and myself, which the records must determine. I think the centleman shows his ignorance of the po-litical history of the country, and of his party in asserting that there was any substantial difference between the resolutions of the Legislature of Wisconsin and the resolutions of his party.

Mr. Brown, of Wisconsin, Mr. Speak-er, I will not either defend myself against the charges of ignorance which my col eague makes upon me, nor impugn the knowledge of the gentleman. Thave not stood at any time on the platform which I have alluded to, adopted by the republican party in Wisconsin. I have opposed it my colleague. And now, having answered the questions which he asked me; I will ask him supreme court of the State of Wisconsin ed money to pay the "addition," goes on these points, my colleague did not contless to bed. Nemesis. however, took stand on the opposite side to me defending them both?

Mr. Sloan. I am willing to answer any question put to me. Under the circum-stances in which these resolutions were passed I approved them, and still approve them; and, with a proper apportunity, I am willing to defend my positon in regard to them.

A Scoron Widow.—The clerk of a parish not five miles from Bridgenorth, Scotland, noticing a female crossing a churchyard in a widow's grab, with a watering can and bundle, had the curiosity to follow her, and he discovered her to be Mrs. Smith, whose husband had not long been interred. The following conversation

"Ah, Mrs. Smith, what are you doing with your watering can?" "Why, Mr. Prince, I have begged a few hay-seeds, which I have in a bundle, and am going to sow them upon my poor husband's grave, and have brought a little water with me to make them spring. PATENT DAMPER!!

Patented June 2, 1863.

VERBECK & WALKER

Have obtained a Patent for a Damper or Heat Regulator, by which in an ordinary draft stove at least one inhibit of the wood or cost CAN BE SAVED! and a better and more steady hear can be produced.

This Damper is put into the stove-pipe, at the first or second joint of pipe, and is so constructed that the draft can be whelly or partly stopped, by turning the Damper, and at the same time will allow the snoke and gas to pass freely, and the heat is retained in the store.

TOW OPEN FOR THE PUBLIC.

By the use of these Dampers, a stove will last one-quarter longer, for the reason that the heat is thrown equally to all parts of the stove, which prevents the stove crucking; while without the lamper, the bluze sprikes some parts of the stove and heats it so that it will warp and cruck in a short time, and this can be saved by the use of one of these Dampers. You can also keep free all night, and have plenty of couls to half a fire from in the morning; this, alone, in one winter, is worth two or three times the price of a Damper.

Don't Fail to Procure one of Verbeck & Walker's Dampers,

And after using one a few days, you would not de without it for ten times the price. The price is nothing compared with the fuel it will save in one winter.

TRY ONE AND SEE! Our Dampers are warranted never to get out of re-pair, and will last a life-time.

The undersigned will put in a few of them on three days' trial, on condition that if the Damper does not do what is chained for it above, I will remove it, (and pay damages if agreed upon beforehand.) If it stands a trial the price is $1.00.

I have bought the territory for Rock county, Wis., and Boone and Stephenson counties, Illinois, and will accommodate all who are willing to try a Damper, poor as well as vich.

Illiberal terms are offered to competent and efficient agents in every locality. Apply to E. M. Serley, proprietor, or at this office. This Damper can be found for side at the hardware store of R. J. RICHARDSON.

The THIRD day of OCTOBER, 1863.

SALE—I offer for sale my farm situate in section 22, 23 and 27, laying between four and five miles south of Janesville on the River road, east side.

Said farm contains about 924 acres of land, about 200 of which are fine, level prairie, the balance comprising oak openings and heavy timber. The farm is in good state of cultivation. A large portion of the land is newly broken. Upwards of 80 acres are now sown to Rye and Winter Wheat, and land is ploughed ready for Spring crojes. There are about 50 acres seeded down to Timothy and Clover.

The house is roomy, and the farm buildings oil that are required to curry on a large farm conveniently. With the advantages of wood, water and printic combined, low farms possess similar advantages. The roads are good, with no interruption to travel either in the deepest snow or muddlest times of the year. Many who are in the labit of driving on the River road between Janesville and Beloit will be familiar with the heauty of the location.

For terms and other particulars apply to me on the premises. 25w4w JOHN GEORGE TODD, Rock.
